Science Experiment

What do I want to find out? → Which fruits have the most electricity?

What steps will I take?
1. Collect a variety of fruit
2. Hook up fruit to a Voltage Sensor
3. Measure the voltage and record the results

What are the results?
1. Sour fruits have more electricity = More acid
2. Sweet fruits have less electricity = Less acid

What do they mean?
✓ More acidic fruits have more electricity → They're like batteries!

The Need to Accept the Coexistence of Good and Evil: The Most Important Theme in "To Kill a Mockingbird"

Working Thesis Statement → The most important theme in "To Kill a Mockingbird" is that survival depends upon a mature understanding of people: that they are both good and evil.

Introduction → Hook: Start with interesting quote that brings in thesis, such as Atticus telling Jem: "Theres a lot of ugly things in this world, son. I wish I could keep em all away from you. Thats never possible." Explain the quote and finish intro with thesis statement.

Argument / Main Idea 1 → Tom Robinson, Boo Radley, and Jem suffer consequences for innocence
- Tom falsely accused and killed
  - Jem attacked by Bob Ewell
- Boo locked away in house; almost has to go on trial which might have destroyed him

Argument / Main Idea 2 → Atticus remains strong despite injustices against him and others
- Sees evil (Tom falsely accused) but fights it in court
- Walks away when Ewell spits in face
  - Defeated in court, but walks out with head high and committed to fight on

Argument / Main Idea 3 → Scout learns to see the world as it is: with evil, but also goodness and love
- Boo feared at first, but she learns that he is innocent...
- Sees evil such as racism, but also Atticus love and courage
  - She grows strong that summer to see the world as it is

Conclusion → Review injustices against the innocent; strength of Atticus; wisdom and goodness of sheriff despite his flaws and mistakes; growth in Scout: her understanding of the coexistence of good and evil has helped her to survive all these years as she looks back.
